SUMMER READ: "Render Unto Caesar": by Charles J. Chaput Cafeteria Catholicism

We can choose to treat our faith as a collection of comforting pieties and file Jesus away as a good teacher. Or we can choose to be real disciples and accept Jesus for who he says he is: our redeemer and the only Son of God. What we can't honestly do is select our Catholic faith from a cafeteria menu while failing at the task Christ himself gave us: a root-level transformation of ourselves and the world around us. Adapted from Render Unto Caesar by Charles J. Chaput (Doubleday, August 2008) Read "Render Unto Caesar" through the summer and join us Wednesday, September 30th, in Kulp Hall to discuss it.
